Year Two of Transitional Reinsurance Fee Program - Action Required for Self-Insured Health Plans

November 16, 2015 marks the deadline for “contributing entities” to submit the 2015 ACA Transitional Reinsurance Program Annual Enrollment and Contributions Submission Form, required by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) to facilitate payment of the Transitional Reinsurance Program (TRP) contribution (fee).

Contributing entities responsible for TRP payments include insurers for fully insured major medical plans and the plan (sponsor) for self-insured major medical plans, although a third party administrator (TPA) or administrative service only (ASO) contractor may transfer the contribution payments on behalf of the contributing entity. Plan sponsors should discuss the TRP fee with their TPA to determine if the TPA will assist with any of the steps required to complete the TRP payment. Ultimately, the TRP process and payment is likely best handled by the sponsor’s internal accounting and financial departments. Note that certain self-insured health plans that do not use a TPA for administrative functions such as plan enrollment, claim adjudication or claim processing may be excluded from the TRP fee for the 2015 and 2016 years.

CMS has published the following schedule of key dates for the 2015 TRP payment:

Key Reinsurance Contribution Deadlines for the 2015 Benefit Year

Several resources are also available on www.regtap.info, including job aides for the file layout and submission of "supporting documentation," as well as a web based training for completing and submitting the annual enrollment count and contribution form.
